Join us for a group bike ride on the partly shaded, secluded Erie Canal Path. The path is mostly cinder (some very short paved sections) and wide enough for two-way riding with a few narrow areas. Set your own pace and distance. You can choose to go out and back or have transportation arranged in Weedsport to go one way. Check your bike to be sure it is working properly, tires are inflated, etc. Bring your own essentials like water and flat tire repair kit. Light snacks provided. After cycling, the park museum is well worth a visit too. There's a small concession area, port-a-potties and nature path at the park.
